DURHAM, NH – The race for President in New Hampshire is tightening, but President Barack Obama continues to hold a slim lead over Mitt Romney. However, more people now disapprove of Obama's job approval than approve.

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll,* conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Five hundred twenty-one (521) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by landline and cellular telephone between July 5 and July 15, 2012. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.3 percent. Included is a subsample of 470 likely general election voters (margin of sampling error +/- 4.5%).

2012 Presidential Election

The race for New Hampshire's 4 electoral votes is getting closer. In a hypothetical race between President Barack Obama and Romney, 49% of likely New Hampshire voters say they will vote for Obama, 45% prefer Romney, 4% favor some other candidate, and 3% are undecided. In April, Obama held a 9 percentage point lead over Romney.

Both Obama and Romney are locking up their partisan bases. Obama currently has the support of 89% of New Hampshire Democrats while Romney has the support of 86% of Republicans. Independents split evenly, 41% for Romney and 40% for Obama. "This election looks to be as close as the 2000 and 2004 elections in New Hampshire," said Andrew Smith, Director of the UNH Survey Center. "In both of those elections, the race was won by about 1 percentage point."

Among those most likely to vote, Obama and Romney are essentially tied, 47% prefer Obama and 46% favor Romney. And there is a gender gap that favors Obama. Women prefer Obama over Romney by 14 percentage points while men favor Romney over Obama by only 6 percentage points. And among those who say they have definitely decided who they will vote for, Obama leads with 52% to 47% for Romney.

New Hampshire voters are also becoming more sure of their choice for president. Currently, 66% of likely New Hampshire voters say they have definitely decided who they will vote for in November, 16% are leaning towards a candidate, and 18% are still trying to decide. The percentage of those who say they have definitely decided who they will vote for has doubled since February.

Presidential Approval

President Obama's job approval ratings in New Hampshire have declined very slightly in recent months. Currently, 47% of New Hampshire adults say they approve of the job Obama is doing as president, 48% disapprove, and 5% are neutral. By comparison, George W. Bush's New Hampshire approval rating in July 2004 stood at 46%.

Presidential Approval in NH – Barack Obama

President Obama's job approval ratings have remained steady among different political groups. Nearly all Democrats (87%) approve of President Obama's job performance, while four in ten (41%) Independents continue to say they approve and only 9% of Republicans approve.

Obama's favorability ratings have also declined slightly in recent months. Obama is currently viewed favorably by 47% of New Hampshire adults, 47% have an unfavorable opinion of him, and 7% are neutral or don't know enough about him to say. Obama's net favorability rating, the percentage having a favorable opinion minus the percentage having an unfavorable opinion, is 0%, down from +7% in April. New Hampshire Democrats continue to like Obama (net favorability rating of +82%), while political independents (-14% net) and Republicans (-76% net) have unfavorable opinion of the President.

Mitt Romney remains less popular than President Obama in New Hampshire. Only 38% of Granite Staters have a favorable opinion of Romney, 47% have an unfavorable opinion of him, and 14% are neutral or don't know enough about him to say. His net favorability rating is -9%, a slight improvement from -15% in April. Romney's net favorability rating has improved somewhat among Republicans – it currently stands at +55%, up from +43% in April. He is still viewed unfavorably among Independents (-19% net) and Democrats (-69% net).

Economic Approval Rating

Recent economic news seems to have hurt President Obama's economic approval rating. Currently, 43% of New Hampshire adults approve of how Obama is handling the economy, 53% disapprove, and 4% are neutral. As with other approval measures, there is a considerable partisan gap -- most Democrats (83%) approve of Obama's handling of the economy, but only 38% of independents and 7% of Republicans approve.

Foreign Affairs

New Hampshire's views about the Obama Administration's handling of foreign policy also dropped slightly. In the most recent Granite State Poll, 50% approve of how President Obama is handling foreign affairs, 43% disapprove, and 7% are neutral. There is a distinct partisan divide, with 87% of Democrats, but only 18% of Republicans approving of Obama's handling of foreign affairs. Independents are divided, with 42% approving and 52% disapproving.

Right Direction – Wrong Track

Granite Staters remain pessimistic about the direction the country is heading, reversing an improving trend that began earlier this year. Currently, 38% of New Hampshire adults think things in this country are generally going in the right direction, 57% think things are seriously off on the wrong track, and 5% don't know.

Democrats are the most optimistic about the country's direction, with 65% saying the country is going in the right direction, but only 32% of Independents and 12% of Republicans agree with this view.

Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Five hundred thirty-eight (538) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by landline and cellular telephone between July 5 and July 15, 2012. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.3 percent. Included is a subsample of 470 likely general election voters (margin of sampling error +/- 4.5%).

The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households, respondent sex, and region of the state. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response.
